STROLLER CAST ANNOUNCED FOR MELLODRAMMER

"Fashions," a Melodrama of 1840, to Be Student Dramatic Group's Next Production

SINGERS, DANCERS
ASKED TO TRY OUT

Singing Numbers to Be Featured Between the Acts

Strollers, student dramatic organization, has announced the cast for their forthcoming play, "Fashions" or "Life in New York," and have released rehearsal dates, and will hold try-outs for those interested in singing or dancing numbers Saturday afternoon in Memorial Hall at 3 o'clock.

The cast for the play is as follows: Adam Trueman, Cliff Shaw; Gertrude, Irene Sparks; Mr. Tiffany, Dosset Reid; Mrs. Tiffany, Jane Freeman; Colonel Howard, Jesso Willmott; Zeke; George Kertz; Twinkle, Carl Conner; Seriphina, Elizabeth Liggin; Count Jillmatre, Donald Irvine; Prudence, Elaine Allison; and Millinette, Antonette Bergeron.

"Fashions" is a five-act melodrammer of the 1840 era. Anna Corn Mowatt, the author, has written many plays of this type. "Fashions" enjoyed a long run in New York City.

The rehearsal schedule is: Friday night, no practice; Saturday afternoon, 2-6 o'clock; Sunday, 7 p.m. Between the acts, songs of the period will be sung. Try-outs for these parts will be heard in Memorial Hall Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. In the event that persons are interested, and cannot attend this rehearsal, they may have the opportunity to try-out at a later date by contacting Tommy Atkins or Eleanor Randolph.

Miss Leila Bush Hamilton, Lexington, will have charge of the ball room dances, featuring the Polka, Miss Mary Wood Brown, instructor at Henry Clay, and director of many successful plays will be in charge of "Fashions." Costumes will be in charge of Eleanor Davis; stage will be in charge of A. W. Lowery, and lights in charge of Morton Kelley.

LAW JOURNAL IS DISTRIBUTED

Articles on Natural Resources, Law Contracts, Alimony, Housing Are Features of March Issue

"With the spectacle of several states competing for 'divorce business' and its accompanying flow of outside gold, the question of alimony after a decree of divorce rendered on constructive service assumes a prominence greater than at any time since the birth of ex parte divorces in American jurisprudence a few years more than a century ago," says Robert B. Harwood, of the University of Alabama School of Law, in an article on "Alimony after a Decree of Divorce Rendered on Constructive Evidence," in the March issue of the Kentucky Law Journal, edited by University of Kentucky law students.

Other leading articles in the March issue of the Law Journal include "The Right of a State to Restrict Exportation of Natural Resources," by Dr. W. Lewis Roberts, law professor at the University of Kentucky; "The American Law Institute's Statement of the Law of Contracts Annotated with Kentucky Decisions Continued" by Dr. Roy Moreland, law professor at the University of Kentucky, and "Housing Legislation in Kentucky," by Byron Purnfrey, Lexington attorney and University of Kentucky graduate.

Cigarette Concern
Announces Contest

Fags Will Be Given Lucky Persons Whose Names Are Drawn from Box

The makers of Phillip Morris cigarettes are now holding a contest by which 1250 free cigarettes are given to the persons whose names are drawn at Dunn's Drug store, located on the corner of Maxwell and South Limestone on April 28th, at 4 p.m.

All students of the University are eligible, and to enter have only to put their name, address, and classification on the back of an empty package of Phillip Morris cigarettes.

The first seven persons' names drawn will be given 50 cigarettes each; the eighth person 100 cigarettes, the ninth and tenth persons 200 cigarettes each, while the eleventh person will receive 400 cigarettes.

Worldwide Stamp Collection To Be Shown At Library

Local Philatelic Society Will Hold Display Until May 10

By AUDREY FORSTER

An interesting exhibit of stamps which has been loaned to the University by the Henry Clay Philatelic society will be displayed on the ground floor of the University library until May 10. The display was arranged by Dr. George K. Brady, associate professor of English.

Those who own stamps in the exhibit are: Dr. Carlton Thomas, Leroy Keffer, David B. Hunt, George Eggleton, George Whitlow, Lexington; Irving Horne, Louisville; Moses Fried, Flemingsburg; and Thomas Conway, Ashland.

There are 500 stamps from the United States, Spain, Germany, Sweden, Montenegro, Canada, Belgium, Chile, Eritrea, England and other countries.

Among the unusual stamps on display is one illustrating Darwin's famous theory that man descended from a monkey. This stamp shows a man climbing down a tree. Also odd are triangular stamps, stamps on which are printed the China Clipper, the Normandie, Newfoundland dogs, and native women of Martinique. The Queen Astrid Memorial issue, and stamps picturing Elizabeth, Princess of York and Edward VIII of England are only a few of the representations of royalty.

One case contains patent medicine stamps printed during the Spanish-American war which were used on headache powders. In a wall case outside the main room, Greek air mail stamps printed in pastel shades may be seen. Here also is a one-eighth of a cent stamp and a $1.00 stamp, the smallest and largest denominations ever printed in the United States.

Sheets of stamps captioned "The Farley Follies" show the personal favoritism of the Postmaster General when small souvenir sheets were issued. There are duck stamps which are required on licenses. The largest and smallest stamps printed, a Canadian stamp, "The Royal William," first ship to cross the Atlantic by steam, British Jubilee stamps and the Cardinal Mercier Memorial issue.

Together with other stamps, Leroy Keffer has contributed several unusual groups. Mr. Keffer obtains the official description of a U.S. stamp when issued, dips the stamp through the stages of printing and continues up to the finished product. The arrangement is instructive as well as unique.

DIETETIC GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Election of Officers and Sectional Forums Are Features of Third Annual Convention of Organization

Miss Edwena McCaffary, of Covington, dietitian at St. Elizabeth hospital, was re-elected president of the Kentucky dietetic association Tuesday morning at the third annual meeting, held at the Agriculture building, April 14 and 15. Miss Grace Covey, of Lexington, dietitian of the U.S. Veterans' hospital, was named president-elect, and Miss Lilly Kohl, of Richmond, director of the cafeteria at Eastern State Teachers college, was elected vice-president.

Other officers chosen were Miss Mary H. Gillespie, of Independence, Kenton county home demonstration agent, secretary, and Miss Sunshine Colley, of Pineville, Bell county home demonstration agent, treasurer.

Sectional meetings were held during the morning on the four major phases of the work of the Kentucky dietetics. They were led by Dr. State E. Erickson, head of the home economics department and Miss Edith Grundmeier, of the same department; Miss Nellie E. Bandeen, of Louisville, of the Kentucky Baptist hospital, and Miss Marle C. Wiggington, of Louisville, of the Norton Infirmary.

Miss Katherine Mitchell, of Chicago, president of the American Dietetic Association, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet held at the University Commons, discussing, "The Work of the Association."

PRYOR ANNOUNCES NEW DISCOVERIES

Dr. J. W. Pryor, professor emeritus of anatomy and physiology, recently announced a new technique of differentiating identical and fraternal individuals by means of x-ray ossification. The new method, developed by Doctor Pryor after many years of research, was made public for the first time at a meeting of the Fayette County Medical association.

The process is claimed to not only add to the evidence as to the nature of the individuals of multiple births, but also in many cases to furnish positive proof.

GARDEN DAY TO BE HELD AT U.K.

May 8 Is Date Set for Annual Event; Invitations to Be Sent Out Next Week

Annual garden day will be held at the University at 2 p.m. Friday, May 8, at Maxwell place, according to plans announced by a joint committee of the Lexington Garden club and the University.

N. R. Elliott, professor of landscape architecture and floriculture, will preside at the program which will consist of some distinguished speaker and a round table discussion by horticulturists on "Winter Injuries to Plants and Shrubs and What to Do About It."

The guests will tour the University botanical gardens and will be entertained with a tea at Maxwell place by Dr. and Mrs. McVey. Invitations will be sent out next week.

Baptist Group To Hold Annual Dinner

Rev. George Heaton, Paducah Pastor, to Make Principal Address

The Baptist Student Union will present George D. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church of Paducah, as the speaker at the annual spring banquet to be held at 6 o'clock Friday, April 17, in the University commons, who will speak on the topic, "Our Home Is in the Deep."

The program will also include a short address by Betty Stewart, and music presented by university students.

Miss Stewart, an alumnae of the University of Kentucky, is an outstanding worker among Baptist student groups of the state and has particularly endeared herself to the local group.

Formerly one of Lexington's outstanding ministers, Mr. Heaton was very popular among university students and was the leader of the Pitkin club.

APPEALS COURT HEAR STUDENTS

Law Seniors Present Annual Argument Before Full Bench of Court of Appeals.

The following students from the senior class of the College of Law, represented the school in the annual argument before the Court of Appeals April 15, at 9:30 a.m., the whole bench sitting: John Geyer, Elkhart, Indiana, Town Hall; McDowell, Kentucky, Charlie Tigner, Hindman, Kentucky, and Joe Williams, Guthrie, Kentucky.

The question involved in the suit in Kentucky on a personal judgment secured in another state upon service by publication.

The Court rendered a 4-3 decision in favor of the appellees, represented by Tigner and Williams.

The argument marked the end of several weeks of preparation, including two preliminaries, in which some 22 students engaged, from the above four representatives were selected.

Ralph Polley, 20, University freshman, who received a fractured vertebra in his neck when he fell 5½ feet from a horizontal bar in the Gym annex on Tuesday morning before the spring holidays, has returned to his home on 433 Breckinridge street and is reported to be improving nicely.

KEA COMMENCES ANNUAL SESSION

Sixty Members of UK Faculty in Attendance; President McEvoy, Dean Taylor to Make Addresses

Approximately sixty members of the University of Kentucky faculty, including President Frank L. McEvoy, are in Louisville attending the sixtieth annual convention of the Kentucky Education Association, which opened Wednesday and continuing through Saturday.

The largest attendance in the history of the association was predicted for the convention by W. P. King, convention secretary. He estimated the attendance would exceed 7,000, one thousand above last year.

President McEvoy and Dean W. S. Taylor will address sectional meetings to be held during the convention. Other speakers at the general sessions will include Gov. A. B. Chandler and United States Senator Gerald F. Nye of North Carolina.

Betty Murphy and Mary Lou Henderson were dinner guests Wednesday evening.

The chapter Mothers' club will entertain the members and their dates with a buffet dinner Sunday evening at the house.

NEW SPECIES FOUND

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the Graduate school, and Russell Foster, curator of the Museum, have just returned from an excavation itinerary of Indian sites in Henry county. Excavations were made in an ancient burial ground about three miles from Campbellburg, and a new species of Indians were found. If the discovery proves as valuable as is expected, excavations will be continued all summer and on regular field trips.

How many of you listen to Bing Crosby's hour every Thursday night?...I have to work but I hear he has a keen program, and that Bob Burns is generally the cause of the hour getting over with a big bang. Here are two of his best ones that were related to me. It seems that Arkansas razorbacks are about the toughest things under the sun. Illustrating his point on this matter, Burns said that once when his father was blowing up some stumps, he came to an extra big one which needed twice the quantity of dynamite necessary to budge it. A long fuse was employed as a detonator so as to allow everyone to get to the next county before this prodigious amount of explosive would have a chance to go off, but a minute before the explosion, the toughest of the razorbacks of the vicinity gobbled the whole conglomeration, cap fuse, and dynamite down in one gulp. Everyone scattered, trying to get out of the way before the catastrophe occurred. In Burn's own nasal twang —here's what happened. "Thet hogg come a-runnin' right straight at us. We all scattered right fast like, but that old hawg just come right on. It shore was a terrible explosion. They heard it over in Oklahomay ...And I'll tell you one thing, we had a mighty sick hawg there for a couple days!"

He also tells one about his grand-daddy, who "wuz alius experimentin' around like." The old gentleman worked for a couple of days on the mountain behind the town digging at the base of a huge boulder for what purpose no one could discern. His Nibs, one day, got the pebble dislodged, and rolled it down the hill through the town. It went through the city hall, the bank and the general store as if they were made of paper mache....There was great consternation, naturally, at the damage done. The old gentleman quite ploughmatically hobbled down the hill, traced the course of the boulder minutely and, arriving where the stone had buried itself halfway into a claybank, after walking around it, probing its surface microscopically, and paying no attention to the mystified crowd attending him in his search, said "Yep. That's right, no moss!" If you have never heard him, listen some night. I think it will be well worth your while.

The weather—"If you don't like our Kentucky weather, just wait a minute"....true enough....Did anybody get caught in light clothes as I did?....For sake of your health, I hope not. Might I solicit the cooperation of the student body in going to their knees every Tuesday night to ask in humble prayer that we be spared the agony of another rainy spring such as we had last year? I grew fins and a waterproof back from paddling around in the slush and sleet last May, or was it April? I am not sure, because I had descended into a lethargy and stupor by the first of May last year....due to the element atmosphere....And me—going home this week-end to buy a spring suit....Oh death, where is thy sting?

An amusing little note....The eds of the Kernel grew quite proud of the press record they established one day, getting the paper "put to bed" at the early hour of 4:55 p. m. November 8....They swelled visibly with pride for a few days until one lamentable night when they "busted" the record on the other end; they were later, perhaps, in "getting the paper to bed" than any of their predecessors had ever been....I see no big placard posted up for that one, such as the one they had printed when they got away.

Mr. Portmann of the Minneapolis Tribune fame ("Now when I worked on the Minneapolis Tribune!") has had a little trouble with his teeth. One of them had to be extracted. The result is uproariously funny. Before the yank he had a hard time saying "statistics" With the missing molar, the effect has now descended from something "bad" to a thing truly horrible to hear....Sounds more like a hissing of an escape valve on a river boat. Hope I am not exposing a skeleton in the family closet. We don't even have a closet any more.

to unlock his office door....He now has a glass eye...and a new door which reminds me, he now courts heavily in several sorority houses...playing the field I understand. I want to be around when he finds his one and only. Will I give him the razz. His kind always hit hard when they take the fatal step. Keep your eyes open, folks.

The dances this year seem to be much more crowded than last year. That is a good sign, but not for guys like me who need a half acre to themselves when they cavort on the floor....Maybe they seemed more jammed this year because I have had to change my shoe size, from a 11 to a 12, little room left for the chaperones.

Here is a good one on Joe Quinn, editor of the Kernel in sports....He has had a bitter feud of long standing with the business office of the sheet....regarding advertising on the back page.....where Mr. Quinn is wont to place his inestimable sports stories....He waxes eloquent over the failings of said office....In using his page for filling up with all sorts of nondescript advertising...generally occupying better than half the page....He claims it has ruined his disposition arguing for more space....At the KIPA convention, he had to make, paradoxically, an address on "Sports Page Makeup"....With tears in his eyes, he fervently assured us he had to have a firm grip on his temper and iron control to keep from breaking down and bawling like a baby....and "putting those poor fellows wise to what they were going up against"....His gesticulations and Yankee epithets are rich to watch and hear....When Difford shows him the ad layout after a good week-end....having eighty inches of the one hundred forty inches on the page used for advertising.

But Joe got even....Tother day he walked in and blandly informed Jimmy Shropshire he couldn't send the Kernel through the mails....Mouth agape, Shrop asked why....To which Joe replied, with bitter sarcasm that "straight advertising sheet is barred from the mails by government regulations" spun on his heel and walked out to sit in a corner all afternoon and gloat over his "victory"....but they are screwy in that office....told the news staff the day of publication once that an eight page paper was scheduled for the next day....Caught them with the well known pantaloons....

There will be no meeting of the W. S. G. A. Council Monday, according to an announcement by Frances Kerr, retiring president of the association.

Applications Ready For "Big Sisters"

Women Interested in WSGA
Movement Should File
Cards

All women students interested in acting as "Big Sisters" for next year's freshman, are asked to get application cards from the office of the Dean of Women in the Administration building so that they may be filed for the summer.

The "Big Sister" movement was started by the Women's Self Government association this year in order to help freshmen on the campus become acquainted with upperclassmen and faculty and to help them orient themselves to new surroundings and college life.

During the summer freshmen will be assigned "Big Sisters" who will correspond with them, meet them in September and help them during freshman week. In this way there will be less confusion about registration, since upperclassmen will help those girls who are new to the process.

Any women student may apply as a "Big Sister" and will be assigned a "Little Sister" who have as much in common with them as possible. Further information may be gotten from the office of the Dean of Women or from members of the W. S. G. A. Council.

OHIO CONDEMS FUTURE VETS

The Ohio House of Representatives has voted overwhelmingly to condemn the Veterans of Future Wars organization on the Ohio State campus. The Pershing Rifles post was frankly pleased with their action and met Friday to map a plan of showing their disapproval of the movement.

MANILA BAY AGAIN?

A recent news story told of a German liner which passed too close to one of the United States' secret islands near Manila. The purpose of this island is to help fortify Manila harbor, and the equipment and defense mechanism is not open to inspection of the public.

The United States authorities in Manila have "cited" the Germans for their action, and have opened the topic to discussion. Acts similar to this are responsible for a great deal of hard feeling between nations. Accounts of such occurrences tend to break friendly relations, and often lead into war.

It is a deplorable fact that nations, such as Germany, are continually warring or preparing to war, and that they will not cease annoying non-belligerent powers. The United States has no quarrel with Germany. Such defenses are known to be secret, and it behoves all nations to respect this right of secrecy.

It is an evident fact that something is wrong with Europe that is not wrong with North America. The United States and Canada have thrived side by side, and as nations, never waged a battle. They have kindred blood, but other reasons for such harmony must be present. The foremost explanation is that the countries trust each other.

One of the outstanding difficulties in Europe today is the lack of trust between the countries. Greece recently desired to reopen the subject of repudiated war debts. This is taken as an indication that they realize that denial of bills will lead to hard feelings, and that this is probably one cause for the present war aspect of the continent today. If something could be done to instigate confidence, the oncoming war could be delayed if not stopped.

The proposed American peace plan for North and South America is taking shape. Such a plan is a healthy one, and should be successful. It is a strange procedure for the United States to get into an "American Court," after refusing to enter the World Court. We were kept out on the grounds that we did not want to take part in foreign affairs, and that in case of war we could stay out. We can stay out of European wars. The question is, "Will we?"

If European countries get too inquisitive, as in the case of Germany's liner "Reliance" last week, we may build up such a sentiment that war cannot be avoided. Canada has never been accused of prying into our secret affairs. Europe could learn a lesson from her in this respect. Our friendship has been built on mutual respect. As long as this feeling exists there will be no war. Let us hope the "old countries" do not force us to lose our heads over insignificant incidents.

THERE MAY BE SOMETHING IN THE IDEA

Just 100 years ago the first organized attempt to prevent the recurrence of a foreign war was made by a group of men in this country. Today a new kind of weapon to fight the same enemy is being employed by the college youth of the nation: RIDICULE.

The recent formation by college students of Veterans of Future Wars, Gold Star Mothers of Future Wars and later the International Order of Diplomats, Creators of Future Wars, while they may in their very aim, offend other respectable and worthwhile organizations, are striking at the problem from a new angle and with a new kind of weapon; and they may prove more effective against the old for than have other and older weapons. Certainly, they cannot fail to do so well as have the others.

The newest of these organizations based upon ridicule, the I. O. of D., C. of F. W. has a slightly different purpose. It purports to devote itself to "making the next war as devastating as possible," omitting any mention of collecting bonuses and the like. It should be understood, of course, that the V. F. W. has no serious intention of trying to collect future bonuses. It is merely part of the scheme to make war business as ridiculous as possible.

One thing that the V. F. W. and the other organizations may have or have not intended to do is now becoming apparent and may prove to be the best premise in the entire symposium. We refer to the dissociation of pacifistic groups with the radical element. Many people have in the past attributed peace movements with socialistic or liberal organizations and have been hesitant to declare themselves. Now it may be realized that such is not the case and that a group of above average Americans such as our collegiate student bodies are, is ample evidence that a cross section of such a group cannot and is not attached to any kind of radical or socialistic organization.

When the storm which has greeted the appearances of these new clubs clears away, it may be found that they are contributing some worthwhile ideas to the cause of world peace. After all, if only one new idea should be presented, it alone would justify their livelihood. College youth, certainly, would be the greatest beneficiaries if war should be curbed in this world.

Guignol Is Busy Scene After Week's Performance Says Writer

By LYDIA TUCKER

A time of real confusion is the Monday after the week of the play at Guignol. The sets are being moved out, those lovely plush hanging curtains turned into an immense piece of out cloth which five girls are struggling to fold, cars are parked out in front with people rushing in and out of the theatre carrying lamps, tables, pictures and what have you.

Mr. Fowler sits at his desk with his elbow at the phone to answer it as it rings constantly.

Now in struts the competent freshman. "Hello, Frank. You surely were a hit in the play. I heard everyone say so. I just stopped in to see about my grade. They aren't posted. Not until after Thursday. Now Frank, you know I worked so hard—why I was over here every afternoon. I—I—I—. So I'm confident that I'll get an A. (Silence) Won't I Frank?"

Brrrrr (Phone).

"Hello! Guignol Theatre. Yes, Martha. No the grades haven't been made out yet. Not until Thursday. You know your part in working on the play isn't over, we still have a lot of work to be done. Yes, yes I know how hard you worked. No not until Thursday. Yes, come over this afternoon. (Whispering in the hall) 'Not till Thursday. You know what that means. We'll have to work today.'

Brrrrr (Phone).

Hello! Guignol Theatre. We prefer not to lend out curtain. If you want you may have it for ten dollars for one week. That is our price. Yes, the rings are extra. All right!"

"Mr. Fowler," (in comes a bashful little girl) "I came in to ask you my grade."

Mr. Fowler loudly: "I don't have the grades." Looking up he sees space, only space. Then comes a voice from the hall whispering "I was afraid to go in there anyway, you see how terrible he is."

Oh hum, says I, for the life of a play director.

the week-end. But both can be seen shooting covetous glances toward each other in the Commons.

Walter "Senator" Flippin just begged his roommate, Johnny Bell, to be sociable and have a few dates, and finally persuaded him to have one with his (Flips) girl Virginia Caywood. Now Bell has so many dates with her that poor Flippin is getting left out in the cold. There ought to be a moral to this someplace.

If appearances are correct Harris Hughes and Elizabeth Snowden have decided to call it a day and just be friends. Could two much playing bridge as partners caused the rift?

Get it straight that the engineers are going to play a great joke on all the people in the Commons this morning by installing a loud speaker with a direct wire from the convocation as has been suggested from time to time.

This stuff about Kentucky hospitality must be right if we can judge by the glowing phrases uttered by The Good Morning column in The Herald, praising the manner in which Tridet Marjorie Fischer greeted the ODK delegates to the convention a couple of weeks ago. ...but the squirrels were disgusted

TELEPHONE engineers had to find a way to stop gray squirrels gnawing holes in the lead sheath of telephone cables. Even a tiny hole may let in moisture—short circuit the wires—and put a number of telephones out of service temporarily.

Many ideas were tried, but the squirrels gnawed on. Finally the cables were painted with black asphaltum and sprinkled with sand. The gnawing stopped.

Not a major engineering problem, to be sure. But thousands of strange little problems, too, have been solved to assure you the world's most reliable telephone service.

All good baseball fans and even some of those who make no pretension at being good, know, the annual major league race broke from the barrier Tuesday afternoon in one of the most prosperous starts of recent years. In practically all eight cities, the big-time show got underway with large audiences looking on, which possibly foreshadows another revival of interest in the somewhat abandoned national pastime.

The first day of the campaign brought together two of the National loop favorites in the Cubs and Cardinals. It may have had some significance for followers of the game to have the Chiegeans fall on Jerome "Dizzy" Dean with much gusto, belaboring his offerings to various parts of the lot and generally treating him with the utmost contempt. A lot of the customers seem to figure that Charley Grimm's club will be able to pin back the ears of the Cardinals in like manner at any time during the campaign and therefore be a clutch to cop the National League flag for the second year running. In the American League, Schoolboy Rowe's shutout victory, coupled with the general swatting of the rest of the Tiger team, gave Detroit fans, who have been touting the merits of the world champions, a chance to say "I told you so" to any who would listen. In Washington, after President Roosevelt had hurled the first ball, the not-so-hot Senators managed to turn back Colonel Ruppert's Yankees, 1 to 0, in one of the best-played of the day's contests.

The usual pre-season talk which consists mostly of pitching "ifs" went on as scheduled this spring; the Boston Red Sox will be right up in there "if" they get some pitching from Ferrell, Grove and company; the Cubs are a clinch "if" Warneke can get right; "if" Earnshaw returns to form and the new acquisitions Brandt and Frankhouse produce, Brooklyn may do some good for change; so the talk went on. Now the season is underway and the clubs can get out there and bash the pill around and the "if" pitchers will be able to show whether or not they have the stuff left in them.

In keeping with our established policy of complete coverage we have interviewed a number of University fans, knowing that their opinion on the situation would clarify the whole matter and allow you to rush right out and get down a wager before the books close.

It was a rather difficult matter to get Captain Stanley Nevers to make a statement, since the New Bellair wild leader is extremely diffident about publicity. After considerable persuasion, however, Nevers finally broke down and confessed that he thought Casey Stengel's Brooklyns would take the pennant in the National loop, with Cleveland copping in the American. That really was a confession as it doesn't seem as though anyone would come right out and declare that the Dodgers would win, without considerable coercion.

Colonel Will Donovan, of the Millington, Tenn., Donovans, was the first selector to choose New York as the probable National League winner. Under pressure he admitted that his choice was partly due to the fact that he was an admirer of Manager Bill Terry who lives in Memphis, a suburb of Millington. Detroit is his choice in the American League race.

Joe Orr, who was very cordial in granting us the interview, immediately selected Detroit to repeat its last year's win but was a little uncertain about his selection for the National League crown. According to Joe, the Cubs will be in, if their pitching can hold up in the stretch coin Memorial university, by 101 to 30.

Vanderbilt has two fine tracksters in Williams, a dash and hurdle man, and Ray, who heaves the weights. These two men have been showing up well in all the Commodores meets this year, and will give Kentucky plenty of trouble tomorrow.

The Wildcats have been hampered by the weather this Spring and have failed to get in much practice out of doors. Besides the weather they have been held back by the fact that the Kentucky track is being rebuilt and they have to work out on the football practice lot.

Vanderbilt will have the edge in tomorrow's meet because they have engaged in and won three meets already this season. Their last two victories were scored over Sewanee, by an 89 to 28 score, and over L'nrun in September, but he expects the Cards to be right on their heels again, waiting for a crackup.

We encountered Ralph Carlisle and Charles "Hammerhead" McClurg finishing their noon meal at the Commons and asked for their opinion. Carlisle a well-known orator, who has also played some basketball for Kentucky, named off about 14 of the 15 teams before we had a chance to stop him. He said they all might finish in front, but when pinned down reduced his original number to five. He took Chicago and St. Louis in the National, and Cleveland, Detroit and New York in the American. "Hammerhead" had about the same opinion but liked Boston over New York in the American.

Professor Nell Plummer of the Journalism department had to be persuaded to make a statement, too. From his own experiences in writing newspaper stories he has learned, evidently, how often a person may be misquoted. We had to guarantee him that we would be careful before he would even tell us that he didn't know too much about the present race but expected the Cubs and Detroit had enough strength to repeat and meet once again in the Series.

And if it will help you any to have our opinion thrown in with these weighty utterances, at no extra cost, we'll give you Boston's costly Red Sox in the American and Chicago in the National circuit. Besides Cincinnati is going to finish in the first division this year. But don't tell anyone yet.

Spring basketball drills will get underway for all candidates, at 3 p. m. Monday in Alumni gym, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Coach Rupp. Members of the varsity squad as well as freshmen and any other aspirants who wish to workout are asked to report the first day.

It is an annual practice of Kentucky basketball teams to hold spring drills which enable Coach Rupp to work the varsity and freshman candidates together and get an idea of the material he will have available for service next season. The sessions will last approximately three weeks.

Although the schedule for next season has not yet been completed, 15 games have already been arranged, some of which are tentative. The games scheduled thus far include:

Dec. 18—Oklahoma A&M, Oklahoma City.

Dec. 19—Oklahoma U., Oklahoma City.

Jan. 1—Michigan State, here.

Jan. 6—Notre Dame, Louisville.

Jan. 9—Xavier, Cincinnati.

Jan. 14—Michigan State, there.

Jan. 23—Tennessee, here.

Jan. 30—Vanderbilt, there.

CAT NET TEAM WILL FACE WAYNE

Coach H. H. Downing's varsity tennis team will make its debut tomorrow, meeting the Wayne College netters of Detroit at 2 p. m. on the University courts. This match will bring to a climax more than two months of practice, both indoor and outdoor.

Wayne College will bring a five man team to oppose the Kentucky group. There will be five singles and two doubles matches during the meet. The five probable singles players representing the Wildcats are Co-captains Stahr and Moore, Tulloch, Evans, and Leach. Coach Downing has not as yet determined the positions these various players will occupy in the seeding in the initial match. Moore and Stahr, and Leach and Bobby Evans will probably be the two doubles combinations used against Wayne College.

In matches to determine the seedings of the team, earlier in the week, Leach, a newcomer to the University squad, defeated Co-captain Jimmy Moore in a long three set battle. The final score read 8-10, 7-5, 8-6. George Tulloch, captain of the team last year, defeated Bobby Evans, a sophomore competing his first year of varsity tennis, by the score of 6-2, 5-7, 8-6. Co-captain Elvins Stahr defeated Dave Randall 2-6, 6-3, 6-2. The closeness of these matches is indicative of the evenness of the first line performers of the University team.

INTRAMURAL

By BILLY EVANS

Final drawings for all spring sports have been completed by the intramural department. They are now posted on the intramural board in the basement of the Alumni gym.

All first round tennis and horseshoe, singles and doubles, are due on Friday, April 24. The golf, singles and doubles, first round matches are due by Wednesday, April 22. It has been requested by the department, in order to speed up the tournament, that all persons participating in the tourney complete their matches as soon as possible.

Complete schedules of the baseball teams can be obtained today from the intramural office. (Continued on Page Six)

Spring basketball drills will get underway for all candidates, at 3 p. m. Monday in Alumni gym, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Coach Rupp. Members of the varsity squad as well as freshmen and any other aspirants who wish to workout are asked to report the first day.

It is an annual practice of Kentucky basketball teams to hold spring drills which enable Coach Rupp to work the varsity and freshman candidates together and get an idea of the material he will have available for service next season. The sessions will last approximately three weeks.

Although the schedule for next season has not yet been completed, 15 games have already been arranged, some of which are tentative. The games scheduled thus far include:

Dec. 18—Oklahoma A&M, Oklahoma City.

Dec. 19—Oklahoma U., Oklahoma City.

Jan. 1—Michigan State, here.

Jan. 6—Notre Dame, Louisville.

Jan. 9—Xavier, Cincinnati.

Jan. 14—Michigan State, there.

Jan. 23—Tennessee, here.

Jan. 30—Vanderbilt, there.

If it's stripes

Some men think of Palm Beach as white, and nothing but white. They'd be surprised!

Palm Beach has gone places since its early days. New shades, tones, stripes, plaids and weaves have been developed by the dozen. Many new this year. All you have to do is to nome your flavor!

Look over the Palm Beach showing at your favorite clothier's. You'll find a world of colors and models...business suits, sport suits, slacks, ensembles...all tailored by Goodall who weave the patented cloth. You can be well groomed in Palm Beach all summer for so very little. $16.75...to be exact.

Look for the trade-marked label in the suit. It's your assurance of the genuine.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

W.A.A. News

By HELEN JONES

Now that the basketball and rifle season has come to a successful close, W. A. A. present a new sport—tumbling. Every day at 4 p. m. in the Women's gym, the interested visitor may see girls standing on their heads (after methods quite their own), girls turning somersaults (a trifle dizzyly, we'll confess), and girls wavering about on their hands. Tumbling this year will be particularly interesting to the participants since a group of the best tumblers will perform at the Spring party of entire W. A. A.

group. This party, by the way, may be expected in the near future. Watch the Kernel for the date.

Everyone interested in natural dancing is asked to be at the Woman's gym, at 4 p. m. on Monday, April 16th, the manager of this sport, will discuss possible days for the meeting of the Dance club.

Do you have your tennis shoes polished and your rackets ready? Now that the courts are definitely open (with intervals, we lament, for rain) it's time to practice up on your serves and volleys, and get ready for the W. A. A. tennis tournament which is to come early in May. W. A. A. hopes to offer regular instruction in tennis this Spring, so if you can't play, but would like to learn, watch the bulletin board in the gym, for announcements.

Division I—Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Flashes, Phi Deltis, Alpha Sigma Phi, and the S. A. E.

INTRAMURALS

A game from P. Five) will be played on the two diamond on Sto I Field and the intramural diamond.

The teams comprising Division I—Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Flashes, Phi Deltis, Alpha Sigma Phi, and the S. A. E.

Division II—Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta, A. T. O. U. K. Sluggers, Sigma Nu, K. A., and Sigma Chi.

Division III—Kappa Sig, Lambda Chi, Phi Tau, Kentucky Kernels, Phi Sig, and Triangle.

UK Glee Clubs Give Program at K.E.A.

Both the Girls' and Men's Glee clubs of the university presented a program at Louisville before the Kentucky Educational Association Thursday night, April 16. A program was given at the Memorial auditorium at 8 p. m. and another at the Brown hotel at 10 p. m.

The Girls' Glee club is directed by Miss Mildred Lewis, and the Men's Glee club by Professor Carl Lampert.

Two buses were chartered for the trip. Thirty-nine members of the Men's Glee club and thirty-three members from the Girls' Glee club made the trip.

BULLETIN ISSUED

The April issue of the Kentucky Personnel bulletin, issued by the University Personnel Bureau, and edited by Dr. Henry Beaumont, has just been released. This bulletin is composed of articles by University of Kentucky faculty, telling of experiments made in the classroom and laboratory, relative to the guidance of students.

Sulzer's Work Is Recognized

A sketch of Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the University Department of Publicity, who made a collection of the works of Stephen Collins Foster, is wanted by Josiah L. Lilly for his collection of a series of sketches of persons who have taken an important part in the recent revival of interest in the life and work of Foster.

His sketch will be placed with several others in Foster Hall at Indianapolis. They will be made by Joseph Muller of New Jersey, who is a prominent collector for Americans and is an authority on American music.

U.K. PROFS TO CONVENTION

The University will be represented at the spring meeting of the American Chemical Society, which will meet in Kansas City, Missouri, from April 13-18, by Dr. Maxson, head of the Chemistry department; Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Bedford, and Mr. R. J. Austin.

Baseball . . . it's America's outstanding gift to the world of sport

SENATORS, representatives, statesmen, judges, doctors, lawyers, business men and Jimmy the office boy... they're all out for the opening game.

Thrills never to be forgotten . . . perhaps a home run . . . or an electrifying no-hit game . . . perhaps some callow recruit, unheard of in the big time, smashing his way into the hearts of the fans.

Baseball brings pleasure to the millions who watch it, and rewards the stars who play it.

At every game and wherever you go you will find people enjoying Chesterfields.

Why . . . because Chesterfields are outstanding for the pleasure they give . . . outstanding for mildness . . . outstanding for better taste.

More and more smokers, men and women both, enjoy Chesterfield's pleasing taste and aroma . . . such popularity must be deserved.
